Body language

body language means to communicate without words. When we use our eyes, face, and hands to communicate with others, we are using body language. When we talk with each other, body language can help us talk more easily.

Police officers use body language to find out what happened in a crime. Or English teachers can use body language to help students learning English better. For example, if they wanted to tell students that they are doing well, they can smile at the students.

Body language is also a part of every culture. When people from different countries taught to each other, they might use different body language. For example, in some countries it is rude to point your finger at someone. But in many Western countries, this is OK. If you are traveling to another country, learn about its culture and customs before you leave.

So, when you talk to someone, it is important to know what they do with their body. This will help you understand the other person better and make communication easier for both of you.

A: True/ False

1.In all cultures we can see the use of body language.

2. Body language makes communication difficult.

3.The body language of Western countries is rude.

B: Match two halves

1. When people use their eyes and hands to communicate with others

2. before traveling to another country

3. When two people from two different countries talk to each other

a. they might use different body language.

b. they are using body language.

c. it is better to learn about its culture and customs.

C. Match the words from the passage to the definitions.

1. crime   a. illegal activities

2. point   b. not polite

3.custom   c. to show something by holding out your finger

4.rude   d. something that people do that is usual

D: Complete the following sentences using the words in the box.

Western	officer	find out	culture

1.Her uncle is an army ……….

2. Jane is starting Persian language and ………..

3. I'll just go and ……….. what's going on outside .

4. My mother hates old ………. movies.